Forecast For East of England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Sunday 12 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Mild, rather cloudy, but mostly dry.

This Evening and Tonight:
Some clear spells are possible at times, but generally it will be rather cloudy this evening and overnight. However, it should remain mostly dry. Breezy, but winds easing later. Minimum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Monday:
Largely dry with some bright spells, but generally it will be rather cloudy. Outbreaks of rain are likely to spread into the northwest in the evening. Mild, with light winds. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Tuesday cloudy with the odd spot of rain and drizzle. Drier Wednesday and Thursday but still rather cloudy. Some overnight mist or fog possible. Very mild for December.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.